

Vol. 8

rural

NEUROTICA

A feeling of being overwhelmed is your indicator that you are denying yourself access to all manner of cooperation that could assist you if you were not disallowing them.

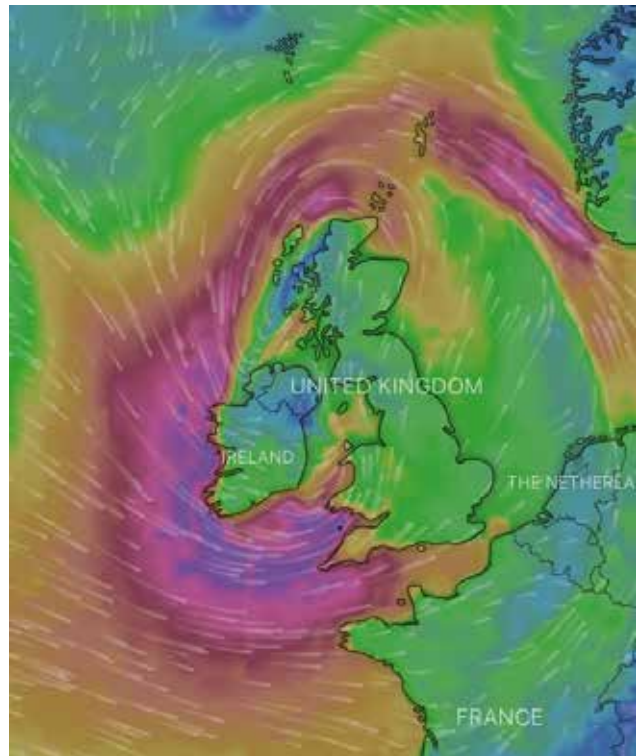

There's a certain impurity to being an artist in the 21st century. Your collectors could be paying with dirty money. Your exhibitions often wear corporate logos. And your public image might even require the strategic indignity of going on TV.

wine and bleach
everything flows to the sea

catherine mcdonald

